Good things come in threes! Research has proven that things that come in three are inherently more satisfying and effective than any other number of items. Our Tutti outdoor xylophone is no exception.

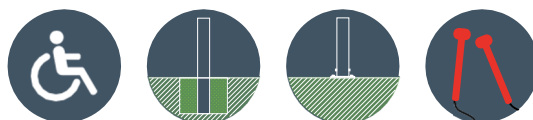

The Tutti is a triad of xylophones, with cascades of notes made from three different materials, securely fixed to a single post, becoming one 'super-instrument' - perfect for playing with a couple of friends.

The aluminium, GRP, and Padauk notes each offer different sustain and tonal properties. The single post makes installation easier and quicker than installing three separate instruments; it is also convenient if you're short on space.

Where music meets art, this eye-catching sound sculpture draws people to it and is harmoniously tuned in the key of C.
